To Whom It May Concern,

Dear Sir or Madam,

I have worked with Aegis since 2009 and have found them to be honest, reliable, hardworking and conscientious.

As a boutique software consultancy we compete on our ability to be agile and in being able to offer rapid turnaround to our clients. Aegis has proven to be the perfect partner for us as they have continually provided us with a strong level of expertise and enthusiasm without the bloated overhead of unnecessary bureaucracy or worry.

Aegis have a strong level of expertise across a wide domain and they immediately ask the right questions which assists us in ensuring we have a clear set of requirements from our clients to start with.

I spent some time travelling around a few countries looking for good outsourcing partners before coming across Aegis and I have to say they have been the best of the bunch. It is a rare occurrence these days to not only find people who have the answers but who are also willing to help.

Working with Aegis has been a marked improvement over many other outsourcing firms we've tried who either needed to be spoon feed or chased for deliverables. Aegis, in contrast have repeatedly taken initiative and have gone above and beyond what I often expected. I am continually impressed by the excellent service they provide.

After having helped us develop a supplier platform for our largest clients McDonalds (UK & Ireland) we are pleased to expand our relationship with Aegis to include them also providing direct technical support under our brand.

I have no problems at all recommending Aegis to be your software development provider and would like to thank them for all their help so far and trust they will keep up the good work.

I trust that the information provided will be of assistance and will be happy to provide further information, if required.

Yours faithfully,

Paul Agbetile
